“Help construct a society which is self reliant, conscious of socio economic issues, where there is a spirit of cooperation, where women are appropriately skilled to undertake their choice of activities without hindrances or dependence, where there is leadership development while maintaining gender equity & above all each having a respect for the values of others and each striving for the greater good of the society.

PRIDE (R) Channapatana, of Ramanagara district of Karnataka, India is a registered organisation established a group of like-minded people founded by Peer Saheb.Y a social worker having vast experience in the field of social and rural development an NGO with focus on socio-economic, Inclusive, comprehensive and community involved assistance by focusing Child, Family and Community Development. to all with special needs as well as persons with Disabilities. The Services include prevention, Neonatal screening, Early identification and Intervention, and initiate various socio-economic, Educational, Vocational, Cultural, Health and Environmental activities for the welfare and the development of Rural and urban disadvantaged sections The activities initiated by the Trust during the reporting period are as under.

I. EDUCATION DEVELOPMENT SECTOR

Though the number of literate people in India has increased over the years, she still has the largest number of uneducated children in the world - two-thirds of whom are girls. Government reports indicate More than 25 % children between 6-14 years do not attend school. Official information further indicates that just a little over one-third of all children who enroll in grade one reach grade eight. All this for a country which has made education for children in the age group 6-14 years a fundamental right? Your help will go a long way in providing educational opportunities for children who would otherwise be left

Our Organisation have been collaborating with the efforts of the department in providing quality education. We are interacting closely with the local communities and shape their attitudes. Each of these NGOs has its own philosophy and vision. According to our vision they we tale up tasks related to different areas of educational development. We have given to local community a list of links to know more about our Organisation and their functioning in Channapatana taluk of Ramanagar district of Karnataka.

TRAINING PROGRAMME FOR MEMBERS OF SHG”s & TALUK PANCHAYATH MEMBERS:

With the ;growing demands for water, Electrical and Energy in the rural areas awareness about the Renewable Energy, Water conservation among the rural communities is very less. Rural folks are completely dependent on this Non-Renewable Energies for their daily utilities. Keeping this in mind our organisation conducted following fields like Solar and Renewable Energy, Solid Waste Management, Rain water Harvesting and created awareness about the ;same with the SHG’S and the Taluk Panchayath; Members SHG.s Members are the primary consumers and potential user groups of Renewable energy and are the victims of problems associated with conventional energy such as fuel wood, Kerosene, etc. and hence are expected to evince more interest in adopting new and renewable energy source in place of fossil fuels, improved cook stoves, solar cookers, solar lanterns, etc which ultimately takes care of their health, environment and forest conservation

III. COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT SECTOR

In Community Development Sector, organization has taken very proactive role in the field of Community Development. The Women Groups, Youth Groups and Village based organizations were involved in almost all the Community Development programmes. The details of the programmes were given below:

WOMEN DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMMES

As a result of our programmes, over the years rural women have been enabled to actively involve themselves in the economic sustenance of the household. To empower women economically, REAL has for many years organized groups of women (and later also men) into Self Help Groups (SHGs). With these SHGs, REAL tries to upsurge the awareness about the role of savings, credit and alternative sources of finance, so that women become less vulnerable and economically more viable. Regular banks do not provide loans for the rural poor, as they are reflected as a high risk group who fails to repay their credit. A high rate of interest is charged from the people in the rural areas. By organizing women Self Help Groups, the villagers can start saving as a group, and create their own savings reservoir. The savings are provided as loan for each individual in the SHG. Over the years, REAL had supported the formation and strengthening of SHGs in its regular target areas, as well as in the tsunami affected villages. A sum amount of money is deposited in the beginning as savings each week or month by each member of SHG depending on the regulations. The SHG has become more organized and operative, that makes a vibrant increase in their collective savings. Most groups have been linked to the block level, allowing them to undertake income-generating activities on a larger scale. SHGs in the villages have integrated and organized themselves into federations, thus gaining access to state funding. The Government facilitates loans to recognized SHG federations through a government established revolving fund. Links with local banks for external funds are also established. This extends their economic empowerment significantly as such loans would never have been possible for the individual members of the SHG groups. REAL undertakes systematic capacity building training programmes for the newly formed federations in different phases, including record-keeping and financial training, and supports the groups to undertake income-generating activities. Loans are taken from the collective savings to start an activity and collective income generating activities includes agriculture and horticulture, livestock rearing (poultry, goat, and milch animals), mushroom cultivation, etc. Apart from credit and savings, the SHGs also provide social space for women to discuss issues of common concern and create leadership opportunities, enabling women to develop confidence and active participation in village level decision-making activities. SHGs have assumed responsibility for development activities such as ensuring regular immunization from government health services, growth monitoring, proper functioning of the village education centre and regular attendance of children, management of community toilets, and village cleanliness. The total amount spend for this programme for the year 2020 is Rs.76,980.00.
